

Spiritually INTEGRATED Psychotherapy
Across Modalities, Approaches, and Populations

One Class at a Time

NEW CONTENT for 2023 – 2024!

Integrating SIP with:

- Widely used approaches to psychotherapy (CBT, ACT, others)
- Commonly presented spiritual or existential hardship/adversity
- Work with marginalized populations (LGBTIQA+, BIPOC)

These classes will be in an interactive didactic format led by an exciting combination of faculty members and renown clinicians, supervisors, and expert researchers in their fields. Some are known to the Solihten Network along with some new faces.

There will be no preparatory readings and two (2) CE hours will be available for each offering. *

These a-la-carte offerings are ideal for:

- Clinicians and supervisors who want to augment their competencies in SIP.
- Clinicians and supervisors who want to learn about using SIP with specific populations.
- Clinical and Training Directors who want to lay the groundwork for religious/spiritual competencies for their teams.
- Non-clinicians who are interested in learning more about SIP.

Faculty

- Joseph M. Currier, PhD, is an academic clinical psychologist and full professor at the University of South Alabama with a background in translational research related to R/S, psychotherapy practice, consultation, training, and supervising clinicians.
